Life and work Isaac Scott was born in London, the son of a doctor. He originally trained as a lawyer, but subsequently turned his attention to painting, and was accepted into the Royal Academy Schools in 1794. He exhibited regularly at the Academy from 1798. Scott's paintings include portraits of Thomas Gainsborough, John Constable, and several members of the Howard family. He was the father of Lewis Scott, who was born in 1793 and became a lawyer and the husband of Emma Richardson.
